“ Sandy Smith lit a candle in memory of CAROL SUE RHODUS

“ "I'm anxious for that happy day when Christ comes in the air.
When all of those who are asleep will rise to meet Him there.
Again we'll see each other, together with our King.
And then we will shout and sing..." Oh grave where is thy victory? Oh death where is thy sting?"

Death to some seems so final, the grave so dark and cold.
But Christians by faith see a city...and safety within it's fold.
Death is a sweet transition....the claiming of heavenly wings.
Peace by a sweet a sweet flowing river, love and eternal things.

Oh grave, where is thy victory...death where is thy sting?
We're moving now to our mansion to live with Christ our King.
Neither of you could hold Him, and Praise God you can't hold me!
Oh, grave, where is your victory? Oh death? Where is your sting?
