Brack was one of those "quiet" classmates who kept to himself a-lot. The first time I ran into him after we graduated was after I married, had a family and took out his mailbox with my car while backing out of his neighbors driveway. He surprised me when I saw him and we had a long talk. I can't really say now what happened to the repair of the mailbox but he was very nice about the whole thing.

Sorry to hear of his passing and our condolences go out to his family and friends. Orville Wright - Classmate of 1955
