“ A piece of my childhood keeps getting ripped away one by one. I have my memories and only God can take those away. I will never forget all the fun times we had. You took us girls to our first bar, let us drive your truck whenever we wanted, have us money any time we needed, leostened to my sob stories about guys and always said “Bevy why do you let guys treat you that way have you looked in the mirror?” I guess I needed to look deeper than the mirror. Remember when we wen to the bar after Adams funeral in the snow? I’m glad you came to Colorado for a brief moment and I got to spend time with you. You always helped me feed horses in the snow and blizzards. Gave me money to play poker and always kicked my butt only to give me more money to keep playing. Wow there’s a lifetime of memories not just with me but everyone that knew you. You touched their lives. I know God saved a special place in heaven just for you. Fly high Cliffy and let me know some how that your still with us. Say hi to my mom, Dad Aunt Doris and Uncle JR. Always ~your favorite cousin Bev
