“ Man where do I even start. There will forever be a hole in our hearts where you sit. I will never forget the day we all went kayaking and you had that giant pimple on your forehead and I gave you crap until you let me pop it and then you tagged me in every pimple meme you saw after that. I guess your payback was feeding my husband so much beer that he passed out and I had to pull him the rest of the way. You have always been so loved by us and you will be for the rest of time. Rest easy.

“ The memories I have with David could feel up this entire page I could literally write a book about everything we did or talked about and no one would understand the book besides David and I. We had our jokes that only we thought was funny and every time we heard a new one no matter how stupid it was to everyone else we called the other to tell them. We went on so many fishing trips just to try a paylake out and as we use to say get drunk while doing it as we would drink our signature 1/2 a beer and just enjoy the time at the lake. Everyone always said whatever I did David had to and whatever he did I had to I feel as though we was separated at birth he was the brother I always wanted and needed in life. Another great memory is I remember my oldest daughter her name is Sophia she was in love with David and she was only 4 years old and she couldn't say his name very well so it was davon he even changed his name to it on Facebook for her. David you'll be missed every time I go fishing or just driving down the high way in the semi I'll be thinking of you so remember this when I finally go and we meet again be by the biggest lake you can find and I'll be there I'll bring the beer I'll miss you brother for the rest of my days fly high bud while listening to bromance because I know I've been listening to it.
