“ My brother Jeff was a character he was all the time when we were kids getting me into trouble by blaming me for something that he did. He called me Nunny most of our lives. We always played cowboys and Indians, army we had BB gun fights and one time I hit him right below his left eye (parents didn't know I almost put an eye out with that thing). We also had a thing where he'd call me Ruben and I'd call him Jason in a really "Hillbilly" accent. Hey Ruben what cha want Jason. He loved his knives, guns back in the day coon huntin. The last thing he said to me a couple weeks ago was love you brother. Love you too Jeff.
God bless his soul love you Jason!
