“ I have a lot of memories of uncle Jim. Him and Aunt Bonnie came in pretty much every Easter to Arkansas he loved to show us his rock collection and we always had to have catfish at least once while he was here. We would sit up late listening to his stories and him and boys ( his brothers ) talking about the old days He will be truly missed. Oh what a family reunion he is having “ Jimmy Bailey.

I met Jim in 1964 when he as dating my sister. They eventually married and Jim became my brother-in-law. Jim was a creative storyteller, and thru his stories I learned a lot about him, such as he was an expert marksman with a rifle, he was deadly with a shotgun, Arkansas rattlesnakes were fearful of him due to his hunting prowess., and as an Army private Jim provided advice to senior officers which they were thankful for. In one story, Jim and his dad were trying to get a reluctant mule to cross a bridge. He got the idea to blindfold the mule. Afterwards it crossed the bridge willingly and Jim had saved the day.

Jim was well liked by children and they took to him immediately.

Jim will be missed.
