“ The epitome of unconditional love— my Momma. When you live 90 years, you see so much life/living/ and death going on around you. Our Momma was a strong woman. Our dad died at 33— leaving her with 4 young children to raise. She lived in shock for over a year but saw to us in every way. In that year she even added 2 more children to our family by taking in two nephews after her sister’s divorce. None of us ever felt hunger or neglected. We all felt ❤️ She seemed to ooze love everywhere She became the “Granny” of our neighborhood. If a child was hungry or needed someone to talk them through tough times— she was always there for us, all our many cousins and children in the community. She taught us strength, compassion, hard work and love. We all turned out loving her and taking a responsible place in society. This momma gave all and all without shaming anyone. She’s dealt with stress, financial burden and yet seen others through major life ordeals like drugs and dealing with their sexuality and divorce and.....she did that and so much more without degrading anyone. She always made people feel better about themselves. She lived as a shining example of what love and respect can do

Rest Momma— you’ve done what the Lord intended— and WELL. Wear you wings well. You are beautiful in them. And enjoy seeing your Lord and all your friends and loved ones. Dad loved dancing and music.Im sure you are both enjoying Heaven together. We will miss you. Yet think of you as we carry on. Your life example will lead our days.

Love , Opal, Bo, Debbie and all your “Grands.”
