“ I remember Heavy from the HD shop on 123 in Franklin. I was 12 years old hanging around and helping him uncrate bikes. I didn't see him for years but when our paths crossed again he still remembered me. Ride on Heavy, I hope to catch up with you one day.

“ Uncle Larry was the best and will always be dear to my heart, dressing up like santa clause (and being a damn good one at that) coming over on Halloween or a few days after to check out my candy (LOL LOL) letting me give him BIG bear hugs and a kiss on the cheek each time I seen him with OPEN ARMS always from him, from the biting of my head, grossing me out with his broken leg (moving the rod around in his leg), talking my mom into letting me ride the dirt bike around the yard, visiting me in the hospital (when i was a little girl) (& bring me a beaver stuff animal), eating dog food at (Kibbles & Bits) grandma's/never tell Uncle Larry he wont do something, going to the harley races and finding out that he raced them at one time NOT only the BEST at working on them, going and watching his ball team kick butt and winning, at my graduation party him pitching to both sides of the family so we could play ball, if there was a birthday party (any kind) at Uncle Larry's you was lucky to find a piece of grass to park your bike, I would run into somebody I had seen at Uncle Larry's and that person would not remember me sometimes until I would say Heavy's niece & they would be like wow Dan Moore daughter (It seemed like everybody new Uncle Larry & had the most up most respect for him), being so proud of me in anything and everything I did, always making me feel like a Moore, Uncle Larry let me drive his (Brand New) Chevette to take my test to get my drivers license, when I was in the hospital and lost a lot of blood Uncle Larry had a line ready to give me blood if need be, working with him at Aeronca/somebody said I hear you are Heavy's niece I was so mad they called him heavy I had to find Uncle Larry and he laughed at me and said some people call me that, always told me I fore sure had the Moore Blood running threw me, coming home after well in my 30's and Uncle Larry had been there in my Easter Basket this time make sure it was good enough for me to eat (LOL LOL) each time my daddy got on the bike or in the van if he said he was going to Uncle Larry's I WANTED to go, coming over and just hanging out in the garage with daddy & I, changing the brakes on my jeep, not really wanting to work on my motorcycle but looked at for me (was not a Harley) , being so proud/happy when I did get my harley, when I started to travel on my bike he would call dad ever day to check on me & no matter how sick he became when I told him I love you Uncle Larry HE always said it back. I could go on but Uncle Larry knew how special he was to me and that I loved him very much!!!! May you ride hard and save a ride for me when i get there to see you again. Prayers to all my family and friends the world is for sure a lot more empty with Uncle Larry gone.

“ I met this man when I was 16 which was many years ago..Him and Connie and the girls became part of our family. we had a lot of good times together. His love of Harleys was huge but his love for Connie, Chrissy and Mary Ann was undying. I know he will be missed by many. I know of some that will be there beside him my brothers Jimmy (Blackie) and Red "RIDERS IN THE SKY". They loved him as a brother. He was always there for Tommy (Wolfman) and Jimmy(Blackie) with them in their mischief or getting them out of it . Ride On Heavy Ride On.
